

Introduction

Written by Quang An

Saturday, 29 January 2011 00:26 - Last Updated Tuesday, 28 February 2012 06:36

I love photography. It's amazing and exciting seeing and capturing angles of life through the lens. Without photography, it's impossible to relive those unforgettable moments lively.

I still remember the first time taking the very first picture. I felt so powerful. It seemed like the whole universe stopped moving and stayed inside of my camera. From then on, my passion for photography has grown bigger and deeper. Even though it's been more than twenty years since that first moment, I still find that burning excitement in my heart every time looking through the lens of my camera.

I like to share with you that fiery enthusiasm through some of my works. I hope you would feel my affection as well as love for photography and enjoy it as much as I do. Thank you and wish you all a happy voyage.

Let's the journey begin ...